

PROMINENT SPEAKERS TALK ON FREE BRIDGES IN NEW HAVEN.

Large Crowd on Hand to Greet the Orators Who Spoke at Length Yesterday Afternoon.

"NO CRAFT," JUDGE REPPERT.

And Honest Expenditures of the People's Money—Congressman Barchfield Wants All Bridges and Roads Free, and Lots of Them—Other Speakers Make Clever Addresses.

(From Yesterday's 5.30 Extra.)
The streets of New Haven were crowded this afternoon with sightseers, and these travelled back and forth between the bridge and the city, seeming to derive a great deal of pleasure in the fact that the bridge had lost the power to cause the annoyance of making one dig up a penny every time they went over the Young.

For two hours before the arrival of the big parade there was an expectancy noticeable everywhere, and the sidewalks in New Haven had many people along them waiting for the coming of the speakers. Many were out on their horses, while others brought chairs and placed them on the pavement and waited comfortably for the show to come along.

The line along the way was running in full force, and apparently doing well. The hot wieners and such stuff seemed to about it the whetting of appetites made by the cool October. Drinkables of all kinds were taken care of, and no need to go thirsty. But few cases of intoxicated individuals showed up for the total numbers in the crowd.

Anticipating the coming of the parade the people were not disappointed. The parade started at 2.27, and while the rear end was passing the Carnegie Library in Connellsville, as indicated by crowds along the street and apparently the parade moving, as could be seen from the stand, the view to Connellsville being clear.

The carriages were unloaded at the steps of the speakers' stand and the guests were greeted by Chairman Wallace who assigned them to places on the stand, which held about 150 people. When the carriages were emptied of their passengers they took in a long semi-circle, gay with bunting. The horseback contingent of the parade employed themselves and showed off the horsemanship of the two towns in entering and galloping about the stand.

The various floats in the parade took their places about the speakers' stand, while the various bands that had participated in the parade gave selections as the people waited for the speakers to commence. The Old Craft Band of Redstone township after playing a selection returned to Connellsville, where they entertained the crowds.

The speakers were introduced by Chairman Wallace after Burgess, Geo. A. Wallace had welcomed the crowd in the following words:
"it is my pleasure today to welcome this great gathering and on behalf of the people, thank the Merchants' Association of Connellsville and New Haven for securing for us this free bridge. New Haven rejoices with many others today and will ever remember this day in history."

Mr. Wallace said:
"We are assembled here today to celebrate an event of great moment to the towns of New Haven and Connellsville. That we shall do so in a fitting manner is evident from the character and extent of this audience.
The freeing of this bridge is wholly and solely due to the ability of the people of these communities to act unflinchingly. This having been demonstrated, it may confidently be said that the occasion we celebrate today is but the forerunner of greater events. The name of Connellsville is known throughout the world, wherever color is used. We are blessed by the possession of all natural advantages. Our railway, our situation, our population, all unite to ensure our future. With ninety thousand people within a radius of ten miles, is it any wonder that we are actually growing?
We now have several substantial manufacturing propositions knocking at our door, seeking the benefits of a location at the center of the Coke Region. Our next step should be the creation of a greater Connellsville, if we employ the same degree of united effort that we have employed in making free the Youngslough bridge, it will not be long before this city of Connellsville will be an accomplished fact.
In the name of the Merchants' Association of Connellsville and New Haven I desire to say that we welcome this movement for the benefit of the public, with no selfish motive in view. And we have enjoyed the unanimous support of Connellsville, New Haven and the entire county.
I desire to thank Mr. E. C. Norton and the other officers and stockholders of the Youngslough Bridge Company for their action in meeting public opinion and making possible the settlement

DUNBAR HOLDUP.

W. H. Jones, Colored Barber, Beaten Into Unconsciousness Condition and Then Robbed.

W. H. Jones, a well known barber of Dunbar, was held up last night on a short distance from his home and beaten into an unconscious condition by an unknown man, who, after securing about $12 in money, left his victim in a ditch and made his escape. Jones regained consciousness about 6 o'clock this morning, when he came to the Cottage State hospital and had his wounds dressed. His nose was badly cut and his face was also slightly bruised.

COSSELL CASE ENDS

By Agreement, Verdict Being Returned for the Defendant Company.

ANOTHER DAMAGE SUIT IS UP.

John Brijia Wants $5,000 from the Pennsylvania Railroad for Injuries Which He Claims He Received in Wreck—Cow Cases Tried.

UNIONTOWN, Oct. 2.—By an agreement of counsel the court this morning directed a verdict in favor of the Union Supply Company in the damage suit brought against it by Margaret Cossett of Broad Ford. This came at the conclusion of testimony in the case. Mrs. Cossett wanted damages for injuries received from a falling ladder. The company was charged with negligence.

John Brijia's suit against the Pennsylvania railroad, to recover $5,000 damages for injuries said to have been received in a wreck on that road between Greensburg and Latrobe on the afternoon of March 28, was taken up this morning. Brijia says he had to spend 24 days in the Greensburg hospital after the accident. Dr. E. B. Eide of Connellsville was one of the witnesses in his behalf. The defendant company claims to have no record of a wreck on that date.

The case of Catherine Korr against Ernest Baush of Uniontown, which resulted several days ago in an award of $500.00 for the plaintiff, has been settled for $450 and a motion for a new trial withdrawn.

The suits of Martha A. and Berma R. Larkin against the Monaca River railroad are being tried before Judge Uebel. These are suits to recover on two cows killed by the railroad. The company is alleged to have agreed to fence its right of way and negligence in not doing so is charged.

H. Fuszina has been appointed administrator of the estate of Rosina Darlestone, who died leaving $700 in the bank.

The Hishy Coke Drawer Company through Attorney E. D. Pullen has filed an answer to the equity proceeding brought some weeks ago by C. M. Clark to prevent them from selling the patent for the machine. The company neither admits nor denies the allegations contained in the various paragraphs of the plaintiff's bill. They contend that the court has no jurisdiction in the matters alleged in the bill of the plaintiff and ask that the injunction heretofore granted be dissolved and the bill dismissed.

DIGBY SEARCH.

Hunters and Farmers Asked to Keep Sharp Lookout for Body of Librarian.

Fayette county is being searched in every nook and corner for Percy Digby, the missing Law Librarian of Allegheny county. A representative of the Fayette County Fair Association was in Connellsville today running down clues. He went to Uniontown this afternoon. A rumor started there yesterday that some railroad men had put an unknown train across the desolation of Digby in a box car at Leith finding him along the track. All trace of the car has since been lost.

The story was not verified this morning. All hunters and farmers throughout the country and mountain districts are requested to keep a sharp lookout for Digby's body. Farmers are also requested to search their farms thoroughly for any trace of the missing Librarian.

SWAT COST FIVE IN POLICE COURT.

Mabel Robinson Protecting Her Child When She Hit White Woman.

A LOQUACIOUS FAKIR SOAKED.

Said He Had Fixed Things Up With the Chief, But He Learned Better, John Keenan of Hopwood Lost His Way in the Growls.

For taking a poke at one of the two white women who edged herself and child off the pavement, Mrs. Mabel Robinson, colored, was arrested by Officer John A. Lowe on charges of disorderly conduct and fighting. Mabel tearfully denied the accusations against her, but admitted swatting one of the women "just to protect my child," she said. Burgess Sessions assessed a fine of $5 on Mabel, remitting half of the forfeit money received. The money was paid by Mabel's husband, who insisted on having his original $10 bill returned, it being a "nickel piece."

J. W. Spencer of Washington, D. C., who operated a weighing machine on Main street, was loquacious when called for a hearing. He talked so much that Burgess Sessions found a call-down necessary. Spencer was arrested for being drunk and having no license. He denied being drunk and said he couldn't find the Chief of Police to get a permit. As he told Chief Rotter that he "had fixed things up with the Chief," he was pinched.

John Keenan of Hopwood lost his way and was directed to City Hall by Officer Lowe. When State Constable George K. Keenan last night was arrested on a charge of being drunk, he was locked up and this morning got 48 hours.

The following common drunks were sentenced to 48 hours each: Harry Perry, Frank Easley and Frank Johnson of town; A. O. McDowell and Mike Flaherty of Dunbar. Easley was disturbing a Salvation Army meeting.

"BOUGHT $16,000.

Capt. Lloyd Johnston Sells South Pittsburgh Residence to Cyrus Echard.

Captain Lloyd Johnston this morning closed a deal for the sale of his South Pittsburgh street residence to Cyrus Echard. The consideration was $16,000. The property has a frontage of 63 feet and runs back over 100 feet.

Captain and Mrs. Johnston have no present plans, but may travel during the winter. When Captain Johnston was in the hands of the law, he was working on the plant on Sunday. Rev. Kell heard the big whistle at this plant blow at 2 o'clock on Sunday night, or rather Monday morning, as they do at about all of the works in the region for the coke drawers to go to work. Hence the information from information gleaned from employees of the company.

Information grew out of a former trouble out Rev. Kell had with Superintendent Shultz made an information against Rev. Kell for trespass, sending a constable to Pittsburgh to make the arrest. Rev. Kell was brought before Squire Jeffery at New Salem, who upon hearing the case, summarily convicted the minister, putting him in for a stiff bill of costs.

A WOMAN KILLED.

Unknown and of Foreign Birth Hit by B. & O. Train No. 3 This Morning.

An unknown foreign woman, aged 40 years and small in stature, was killed by B. & O. train No. 3 this morning at Oliver. The body was removed to Funerals Director J. A. Sinn's morgue on North Pittsburgh street.

The woman had $3.01 in her pocket, but there was no clue of any kind that would lead to her identity. She had a leg and arm broken and a fractured skull.

SMALL FREIGHT WRECK.

Several Cars Derailed Near Leith and a Small Freight Wreck Occurred on North Pittsburgh Street.

A small freight wreck occurred on the Baltimore branch of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad last night when a lumber truck backed out of Brownfield siding, collided with a northbound load freight.

Several cars were delayed and traffic tied up several hours.

WIN OPENING GAME.

Connellsville High School Takes the Mill Town Lads Into Camp With Ease.

In its first contest of the season the Connellsville High School scored a victory over the Milltown High School, the final score being 11 to 0. Both teams were slow, as the season is yet young, and the more complicated plays haven't been fully developed. The features of the game was McCord's line blocking. The team will go to Johnstown on Saturday to meet the strong High School team of that place.

BLACK HAND DEMAND.

Brownsville Man Claims He Received Letter Asking for $10,000.

SOME DIRE THREATS WERE MADE

Told to Come to New York and Bring the Money Along—Reported the Matter to District Attorney Hudson Who Will Investigate.

UNIONTOWN, Oct. 2.—Breathless and excited Mr. and Mrs. R. Frediani of Brownsville rushed into District Attorney T. H. Hudson's office this morning and submitted for his consideration another "Black Hand" case. Yesterday one Frediani received a letter postmarked Cleveland, O., demanding that Frediani go at once to New York with $10,000. There he was to meet a man on 46th street, and after going through the high signs arranged, would be taken to the spot where the money was to be turned over.

Frediani is a prosperous fruit dealer of Brownsville, said to be worth considerable money. He is above average intelligence and speaks English fluently. He was notified to come himself, and in the meantime Chief Frediani of Brownsville and the State Constable will be asked to look for the matter.

County Detective McBeth sent the letter to the police authorities at New York and they will be on the lookout for persons who may have written the letter.

Will Be Given by Mrs. H. F. Burkholder Tuesday Evening. Invitations have been issued for a country dinner to be held next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of Mrs. H. F. Burkholder on Lionsburg Hill, by the members of the Epworth League of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

Invitations have been extended to the members of the League only and a most delightful evening is looked forward to.

BOOM EXPOSITION.

Jamestown Advertising Car in Connellsville for the Day Spreading Big Show's Merits.

Car No. 1 of the Jamestown Exposition arrived here this morning from Pittsburgh on route to Washington. The car is in charge of Fred D. Crow, Assistant Director of Advertising, and has a crew of 14 men. The car will remain here today, filling the city and surrounding towns, booming Pennsylvania State Day, which is Friday, October 4th. This method of advertising was inaugurated by Stephen W. Bowles, Director of publicity of the Jamestown Exposition, and has proven very satisfactory. Great interest is being shown in the coming Pennsylvania Day and an elaborate program has been arranged. It is expected that the car will be here for several days.

The financial condition of the Exposition seems to be worrying a great many people considerably. Mr. Bowles says: "Quite in 1897 held an exposition that paid dividends. It cost one-fourth of the Jamestown Exposition, but it stands alone. The stockholders of the Jamestown Exposition are not worrying. They know that they will join the procession from New Orleans to Portland of contributors of something of which they may be proud, and which has resulted in centering the eyes of the world on their locality for a time. The Exposition has a little over two months more to run, and if the present average attendance keeps up, the gates will close at the end with the fair nearer the color of the woods. The Exposition has over been in America with the single exception of the Trans-Mississippi at Omaha the first year. The car leaves this afternoon over the B. & O."

GREAT SUBWAY.

Pittsburg Paper Says Will Be Built From Pittsburgh to McKeesport by H. C. Frick.

A Pittsburg newspaper this morning prints a story, based, it says, on unimpeachable authority, detailing the proposed building of a subway, part underground and part a surface line, from Pittsburgh to McKeesport by H. C. Frick and his associates. The Pittsburg terminal is to be on the old Catharine street, for which Mr. Frick paid over $1,000,000 and which has been holding unoccupied for several years. The line will reduce the distance between Pittsburgh and McKeesport now traveled by railroad and trolley car by one-third.

A complete chain of properties has been extended from the cathedral site to McKeesport, which will form the basis for a new subway and surface rapid transit line between two most populous points in Allegheny county.

Valley areas of undeveloped property through which the new line will pass will become thickly populated as the project advances, and for the first time will be brought into immediate touch with the business section of the city. The cost of constructing the subway would be about $3,000,000.

Woman's Missionary Meeting. The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Robert Welch on South Pittsburgh street.

The two floats representing the first foot bridge and the later suspension bridge were features. The old wooden bridge covered was labeled "Yo Old Bridge," while the suspension bridge bore the legend of a "Keystone, 1882 to 1886." On James J. Burdett came forward with the "unique idea" (Continued on Sixth Page.)

IS CHECK NIGHT.

Unique and Profitable Meeting by National Protective Legion

AT SCOTSDALE HALL TONIGHT.

Nearly $2,800 Will Be Paid Out in Dividends, Says a Member—George Howard May Lose Foot—Other Mill Town News.

SCOTSDALE, Oct. 2.—The National Protective Legion has arranged an interesting program for an open meeting, to which they have invited the people of Connelville and the vicinity this evening. The occasion will be a dividend check night, the first one to be observed in Scottdale, where the order has been in existence for about five years. There are 26 members of the Legion here and of this number 11 will receive dividend checks amounting in all to approximately $2,800. In the local society L. E. Shaffer is President and Clyde E. Newcomb is Secretary. The program for the evening consists of music by the Alverton quartette following the chorus in the Ode of Welcome. There will be recitations by Theodore Hockley, a reading by Miss McCullough, a recitation by Mrs. L. E. Shaffer, and an address by George A. Scott, National President, and music throughout. This will be followed by the check presentation.

Dr. N. S. Shaffer, L. T. Gilbert and C. W. McKee made another examination of George Howard's foot Tuesday at his home in West Scottdale, where he has been confined for several weeks suffering from a serious wound caused by stepping on a rusty nail. Another examination will be made today and it is feared that amputation may be necessary, as the bones of the toes do not seem to be healing properly.

The Philharmonic Society held its weekly meeting for rehearsal at the borough building on Tuesday evening. The Grand Army Band was in Connelville on Tuesday taking part in the parade of the celebration of the signing of the bridge over the Monongahela between Connelville and New Haven. The band made a very creditable showing, had a fine place in the parade and were complimented lavishly for their music.

The new business block of C. M. Jarrett is rapidly coming on toward completion on Pittsburg street. The concrete pavement is now being put down in front of the building.

Edward "Yokers" bookkeeper in the First National Bank, has been off duty a few days. It is feared that he is taking typhoid fever.

Rev. and Mrs. William C. Weaver, the former pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, and Rev. and Mrs. Archibald Auld, the former pastor of the Alverton church of the same denomination, left on Tuesday for Pittsburgh to attend the annual meeting of conference.

The funeral of the late Jonas M. Blair, who died on Sunday, took place from the Lutheran church Tuesday afternoon, the pastor, Rev. Mr. Michael, being the minister in charge. The pallbearers were A. B. Brindley, Hugh J. C. Steiner, Robert Jones, Peter Horne, Thomas B. May and J. H. Luker, all comrades of the G. A. R.

THE RIGHT WAY.

It Costs Nothing to Try It—Let Us Help You.

There is a right and a wrong way to do almost everything. The right way to handle your funds for current expenses is a checking account. The ability to draw a check on a good bank stamps you as a person of consequence and gains the respect of those with whom you do business. Moreover, paying by check gives you a record of receipts and disbursements and is an important factor in keeping accounts straight. It is not necessary for you to handle much money to enjoy the advantages of paying by check. The First National Bank of Connelville invites your account, no matter how small. It costs nothing to try it—even the check book is free.

NO FISHERMAN.

A. J. McHugh Proves He Has No Right to Piscatorial Fame.

UNIONTOWN, Oct. 2.—A. J. McHugh of the Fayette Brewing Company and Alphonse Piscolo, the latter an employee of the Macintyre Brewing Company, each had a short hearing before Judge Dawson yesterday afternoon on charges of violating the fish laws.

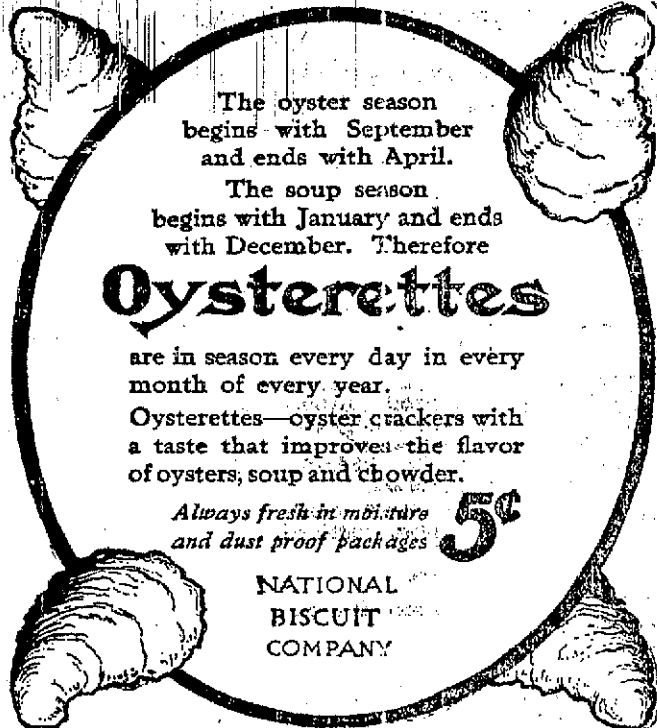

After a few questions by Fish Warden Mallard, the latter was satisfied that the information he received and which he based the information was wrongly given. McHugh said he had not been fishing in the Monongahela river for about 40 years, and then it was at Pittsburgh.

SOLDIERS' REUNION.

Veterans of the 133rd Regiment Will Gather at Everett.

The annual reunion of the 133rd Regiment, Pennsylvania Volunteers, will be held at Everett, Bedford county, on Tuesday, October 15th. In addition to all members of the regiment, the presence of all old soldiers is urged. Good speakers will be there. A business meeting will be held in the afternoon and a camp fire in the evening. W. Knepper is Secretary of the regiment.

SCOTSDALE Y. M. C. A.

Held Annual Senior Meeting and Elects Board of Ten Directors Tuesday Evening.

SCOTSDALE, Oct. 2.—The senior members' banquet was held at the Scottdale Y. M. C. A. on Tuesday evening, following the election of the Board of Directors for the year. The business meeting and election of the directors took place at 7:30 o'clock, when ten were elected, five to serve for three years and five to serve for two years. Those chosen to fill the three year term were Frank Grazer, M. S. Loucks, Fred L. Brown, W. J. Barkell and H. A. Bricker. Those selected for two years were Robert Skemp, James McCairns, J. W. Grant, J. M. Zimmerman and John A. Stadler. President James McCairns made the report for the past year, laying special stress upon the educational features which have been introduced into the Association, particularly the Italian, Slavish and Polish classes to teach these people the English language. While, he said, the results have not been so great numerically in the educational classes, they have been very solid, for all the people enrolled last year are now entering upon the second year of study, which speaks well for the benefit they have gained. That a campaign of education should be carried on, as it concerns the local foreign element was the basis of an earnest plea on the part of President McCairns. Secretary W. J. Grazer gave a synopsis of the forecast of the coming year's work, which shows great things planned for the local institution.

In the evening's social enjoyment there was a good crowd present. The Ladies' Auxiliary had charge of the serving of the refreshments, and had the feature in their usual hospitable style. The music of the evening was contributed by Mrs. A. C. Sailer, who sang three solos in her usual charming manner, which brought forth flattering success. Miss Irene Williams, who was her accompanist, also rendered a piano solo that was well received. The Barkell orchestra played several numbers in the excellent style that the organization is noted for, and all in all the musical program was very enjoyable.

BLACK CROOK.

The Well Known Burlesque Company Comes to the Casino Theatre This Evening.

Theatre goers often remark that the offerings in burlesque houses are many times superior to those presented at the higher priced theatres, where inferior productions under the label of "musical comedy" try to win merit with the amusement seekers. The fact is that the burlesque stage is the real home of extravagant and frivolous comedy and that it takes more than a mere introduction of a song hit to interest the patrons of these houses. Of "Black Crook," which comes to the Casino Theatre this evening, it is said they are far above the usual offering, and that this company with its two highly amusing, extravagant and well selected acts would do honor to the best houses in the world. A glance over the roster of the vaudeville features will give ample proof that money has been spent lavishly to make the attraction a noteworthy one.

Mack and Burgess portray two amusing characters from the Blue Bird tale, Cuckoo and Nipps, given laugh provokers; May Barker, the little girl with the big voice; Kelly and Armstrong, in animated illustration songs; Zenobia, the girl in purple, the chic Chansonnette, Miss Corinne DeForest and Miss DeVers & Co. in a sensational French episode, both direct from the Folies-Bergeres, Paris, France.

AN AWFUL SQUEAL.

Dawson Shouts Bloody Murder Because Smithton Loaded Up and Trimmed Them 2 to 0.

DAWSON, Oct. 2.—Lovers of base ball were sadly disappointed Monday afternoon when they went to Smithton expecting to see the game of base ball between the Dawson boys and Smithton to decide the amateur championship of the Young Valley. The Dawson team got to Smithton, headed by the most loyal band of rooters that ever accompanied a team down the Young river. They went to the grounds and waited until 4:30. They found that every train brought players, strange faces, yes, very strange faces, for the Smithton team. When the game started for the game, the Dawson team was loaded up with players from all over the Young region. But this was not all. They had sneaked up the Monongahela to Charlestown, a big sumo, the Charlestown P. O. M. League pitcher, to come over to pitch for the all-star team against Dawson. This team was made up of players from Sutorville, Blythesdale, West Newton and Charlestown. It was Dawson with the same old bunch.

Dawson had already played two games at Smithton and requested that the fourth game be played at the Connelville grounds. Stoney Jones, their manager, would not hear to this, but in a smooth manner stated that a record breaking crowd would be out at their home grounds and each team would be at little expense.

Dawson's expense was not large, but it is a good bet that with the crowd Stoney did not make expenses to pay off his all-star team.

If Smithton would like to play the game off in Connelville, we will play them a game to decide the last game of the series. But it must be Smithton and not an all-star team, as we will play the regular Dawson team and more than that, we will state that everything will be on the level. When you get to the Marietta-Sullivan Park there will be no riggers. A number of spectators after the game were looking for trouble and found it. They knew the Dawson boys could play ball, but now they are a wiser set, as they have by this time learned that we know something about the boxing game as well as the other sport. The Dawson team had the game by a small margin in the base ball game, but in the scum they came out away ahead. Score:

PROMINENT SPEAKERS TALK ON FREE BRIDGE IN NEW HAVEN.

I wish to thank the honorable gentlemen who, by their presence here today, are adding dignity and interest to this occasion.

I also wish to extend my personal thanks to Mr. H. P. Snyder of the Connellsville Courier and to Mr. R. D. North of the Connellsville News for their loyal and continued support.

We recognize that without this support our efforts were doomed to failure.

We thank all who have contributed to the fund for defraying the expense of this movement. We feel confident that we can furnish you a statement in a few days, giving names to whom honor is due, and showing the disposition made of every dollar received.

There was a large crowd gathered in the open ground in front of the speakers' stand, and this crowd, enlarged by people who came in groups enjoying the beautiful weather and the elegant view afforded by New Haven and Connellsville.

Judge E. H. Reppert in his address wished to the people of the two towns that the building of the bridge would bring to them all the benefits and advantages that have been hoped for.

He sincerely congratulated you on the event which has been accomplished, and he wished to commend to you the bridge, which will be a wise station on the nation's highway to the future.

The legal proceedings to free the bridge from the Pennsylvania Railroad Company's control, which have been so successful, are a matter of no small moment. It reflects the great credit on the counsel engaged in the litigation, on the sound judgment of the jury, and on the able advocacy of the attorneys.

The matter was referred, and on the second day of the trial, the Grand Jury returned its verdict, and the bridge was declared to be free from the control of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company.

Mr. Newmyer, in addressing the gathering, recalled the many controversies that had been carried on to free the bridge, and said in part:

There are many legal proceedings brought to free the bridge, but the one which is the only proper legal proceeding, and the only one which has been successful, is the one which has been brought by the people of Connellsville and New Haven, and which has been successful.

and a greater Connellsville. These towns are yet in their infancy in their swelling numbers. They will grow until the commerce of this great region to the north of the world.

The time will come, and this is no idle talk, when the Touchingstone river will be blackwatered to the heart of your great and growing city. And when this is accomplished, it will carry your commerce where it rightfully belongs—down the broadened Monongahela and Ohio rivers to the great Mississippi, through the Caribbean sea and the Panama canal to the ports of foreign countries.

We should emulate the work of Germany, where competition is so keen between the ship canals and railroads that the small fraction of a cent decrease in the freight rate makes a difference of many millions of dollars.

There is not a navigable canal within the next eight years the Pennsylvania canal on which France spent $200,000,000 of the people's money and then gave up the work will be open for traffic. Then will the world markets be within our reach, 3,000 miles nearer than England, our strongest competitor.

To carry on this traffic we need ships. Of nearly 3,000 ships which are on the port of Rio Janeiro, Brazil, a year ago, but seven now the American flag. Such a sad commentary it is to write.

This is a great country, and its greatness will be perpetuated. When times of industrial depression come, there will be wise statesmen at the nation's helm to divert our immense resources into the world's markets.

They will see that home products are deposited in South America, with its $5,000,000,000 of people and China and Japan, with 500,000,000 souls, are countries which should deal with us, and our commerce should be so diversified as to make them so.

I congratulate Fayette county upon its contribution to American statesmanship, that fearless citizen who so nobly represents you and I in the Senate of the United States and whose influence is always for the best. Philander Chase Knox of Knoxville.

PARADE RIVALED CENTENNIAL.

of showing something before any bridge, an old ferry boat in which he rode and pulled it up the river over the streets.

The delegation of farmers from Dunbar township was rather small but it made a good showing.

The Connellsville paid for department came out in all its glory and the alarm bell was kept busy along the route of the parade.

In addition to the many business floats that were in the parade the prohibition party also got in with a big float advertising their candidates.

There were many private carriages occupied by ladies in the parade besides a great turnout of automobiles. It is estimated that the parade was two miles long, and that it required upwards of an hour to pass a given point.

The parade was not quite as large as the parade on Merchants' day at the Centennial celebration, but its make-up was equally as good and quite as interesting.

The line of parade was as follows: Sheriff of Fayette Barthold Rottler, members of the Fayette County Board of Supervisors, and State Constable Morgan, Mason and May, mounted.

Carriage containing Burgess George A. Markle and President Porter of Fayette County, and Edgar C. New Haven and President of Council George Porter of Connellsville.

Mr. E. H. Reppert, R. E. Umbel and J. C. Work and Margaret A. D. Solson of Connellsville, in cab.

Members of Connellsville and New Haven Councils and School Board, in cab.

Congressman A. J. Borchardt, H. M. Keppert, P. A. Newmyer and E. A. Norton, in landau.

DR. NEWCOMER THERE.

Rode Mule in Parade With Pilot. Notes From the Line.

Dr. G. W. Newcomer, an ardent supporter of the free bridge movement, occupied an old black mule and had a fantastically dressed pilot, his son, of right comfortable and jolly seated upon a bran bag filled with hay and nodded his greeting while he held tightly to his pilot.

The doctor, or known better as "Doc," affected woman's apparel for his showing. In a bright blue gingham dress and a luxuriant growth of red hair, and also rosy cheeks, hand made, he had a smile for everyone, and sometimes left out a bit of applause in feminine style.

Jasper Johnson didn't parade. He got a tumble from his horse in the morning.

Barney Johnson was there. He was on account of getting the fresh air. Those who didn't ride thought it was to show off.

Sheriff M. A. Kiefer and Prothonotary Peter A. Sheppard also rode of Uniontown.

Barney Wallack almost forgot to ride in the parade.

The pony girls looked good riding new style.

Some of the cars were well handled and brought the immense crowd from the outlying sections.

Attorney P. S. Newmyer entertained Congressman Borchardt while he was here.

The hotels were unable to accommodate the crowds, although they began serving dinner much earlier than is the regular custom.

Logan Rush, Recorder and Recorder of Fayette county, was at the head of one of the carriages.

Prothonotary P. E. Sheppard of Uniontown was shouting and shouting about the crowds today.

Attorney R. E. Borchardt of Uniontown, who is a large man, was seen through the crowds in New Haven this afternoon. Robert P. when introduced to Burgess George A. Markle, said that the Burgess and he attended W. & J. College together 35 years ago.

A. Strawm of Bullskin township, was one of the old veterans who found places on the speakers' stand.

There were many other old veterans in good numbers and the souvenir postal card industry ought to enjoy a local boom as a result of the day in Connellsville.

Superintendent D. H. Johnson, of the West Point at Gettysburg, came over on the 11:30 car and was watching the operation of the cars between here and that place.

In spite of the misunderstandings about the Scotland G. A. R. band they were on deck all right and made some of the best music in the parade.

John S. Ritenour, one of the old boys in journalism, looking younger than better than any other man out in the parade, was seen in the parade.

The fantastic clowns were numerous and some clever costumes and makeup were to be observed. Human ingenuity was heavily taxed to attain grotesque results and certainly succeeded.

H. S. Dunbar, a prominent attorney of Uniontown was here today greeting old friends.

Now all the pennies can go to the Sunday school. No one will need to keep any out for bridge toll.

The spirit that took the bridge ought to do over greater things. It shows what a united purpose can do when the people of Connellsville and New Haven.

The Y. M. C. A. boys made a great showing.
